

Allergy Awareness Training Level 2

£15.00 per candidate

All staff need to be allergy aware regarding all foods consumed at school. The course defines what is meant by food allergy and how food safety law in the UK changed in 2014, also looking at common examples of food allergy and their associated symptoms

This on line training programme may assist school staff who work with children with allergies particularly at lunchtimes.

- Allergens — The Facts (allergies vs intolerances including hidden allergens)
- The 14 specific allergens which have to be declared
- Preventing Allergen Contamination
- Emergency First aid

To complete this course all that is required is a personal email address and computer access with a internet connection, which means it can be completed at work, or at home if this is more convenient..

The cost is £15 per person - £12 for the cost of the course and £3 which covers the cost of; set up, administration, monitoring the progress of the candidates and follow up to ensure completion.

For further information or to request training
please contact Janet Blythe Training and Development Manager at contactus@educaterers.co.uk

Allergy Awareness Training Level 2

£15.00 per candidate

All staff need to be allergy aware regarding all foods consumed at school. The course defines what is meant by food allergy and how food safety law in the UK changed in 2014, also looking at common examples of food allergy and their associated symptoms

This on line training programme may assist school staff who work with children with allergies particularly at lunchtimes.

- Allergens — The Facts (allergies vs intolerances including hidden allergens)
- The 14 specific allergens which have to be declared
- Preventing Allergen Contamination
- Emergency First aid

To complete this course all that is required is a personal email address and computer access with a internet connection, which means it can be completed at work, or at home if this is more convenient..

The cost is £15 per person - £12 for the cost of the course and £3 which covers the cost of; set up, administration, monitoring the progress of the candidates and follow up to ensure completion.

For further information or to request training
please contact Janet Blythe Training and Development Manager at contactus@educaterers.co.uk