

Cumulative NHS Health Check Programme Indicators

Percentage of the eligible population aged 40-74

Introduction

The NHS Health Check programme aims to help prevent heart disease, stroke, diabetes and kidney disease and certain types of dementia. Everyone aged 40 to 74, who has not already been diagnosed with one of these conditions, will be invited (once every five years) to have a check to assess their risk, raise awareness and support them to manage their disease risk. A high take up of NHS Health Check is important to identify early signs of poor health, leading to opportunities for early interventions.

Local authorities have a legal duty to make arrangements to provide the NHS Health Check programme to 100% of the eligible population over a five year period and to achieve continuous improvement in uptake.
