National Driver Offender Retraining Courses provided by Warwickshire County Council

The following frequently asked questions relate to all National Driver Offender Retraining Courses provided by Warwickshire County Council (WCC): Speed Awareness, Safer Considerate Driving, What's Driving Us, and National Motorway Awareness Course

What are the driver retraining courses?

Warwickshire County Council provides driver retraining courses on behalf of Warwickshire Police and as part of the National Driver Offender Retraining Scheme. The courses are offered to drivers as an educational alternative to prosecution with the objective that the offender benefits from the course and contributes to road and community safety. All courses are offered in a friendly and relaxed environment. You can expect a non-judgemental course delivered by experienced and qualified instructors.

Speed Awareness:

Speed Awareness helps clients explore why they have exceeded the speed limit and develop a personal speed awareness strategy. The course is for motorists who have been detected exceeding the speed limit within an agreed threshold. It is delivered in an interactive workshop format lasting 4 hours. At the end of the course clients should be able to:

- Examine why limits are needed and recognise limits.
- Understand that a speed below the posted limit is frequently appropriate.
- Identify what causes them to speed.
- Identify the disadvantages of speeding and consequences of misusing speed.
- Recognise different speed limit areas.
- Demonstrate knowledge of appropriate use of speed.
- Develop their personal Speed Awareness Strategy.

Motorway Awareness Course:

The National Motorway Awareness Course is a 3 ¾ hour course that aims to make smart motorways safer and more efficient, providing a better experience for people who use them and work on them. It does so by:

- Increasing knowledge of the meaning of smart motorway signs;
- Increasing understanding of why variable speed limits and lane closures are imposed;
- Increasing understanding of how to use emergency areas safely and appropriately;
- Increasing awareness of the risks of breaking rules on smart motorways;
- Increasing personal responsibility for decisions about complying with rules on smart motorways;
- Increasing perceptions of control over complying with smart motorway regulations.

What's Driving Us:

What's Driving Us aims to produce safer and more responsible attitudes towards driving and to increase motivation to drive with consideration for other road users. It does this by giving clients an opportunity to think about what they like and dislike about driving, how other people's driving affects them and how their driving might affect other people. Through presentations and discussions clients gain insight into the decisions that people make on the road.

The course is offered to some motorists who are detected committing certain road traffic offences such as using a mobile phone whilst driving, overtaking on solid white lines, aggressive tailgating or jumping a red traffic light. It is delivered in an interactive workshop format lasting 4 hours.

Course objectives:

- Increase clients' perceptions of driving as a complex and difficult task.
- Increase clients' recognition that the way they drive and the risks they take have negative consequences for other road users and increase the likelihood of crashing.
- Increase clients' awareness of the physical, emotional and financial consequences of being involved in a crash.
- Increase clients' understanding of the need for traffic rules.
- Increase clients' insight into the things that influence their driving.
- Encourage clients to identify and overcome their own barriers to safe and considerate driving.

Safer Considerate Driving

Driver Alertness is offered to motorists who have been involved in a collision where evidence indicates they have been driving without due care and attention, or driving without reasonable consideration for other road users. The course aims to create safer communities and reduce the chances of drivers being involved in future incidents. The course lasts a full day and involves a combination of an in-class interactive workshop and on-road practical driving session with an advanced driving instructor. The course will give clients the opportunity to consider:

- Are situations avoidable?
- Accepting ownership of the problem
- Skills for safe driving.
- What affects our driving performance?

Only the Driver Alertness and Driving for Change courses involve driving. For these courses you should arrive prepared to drive. Any issues relating to your offence should be discussed with the Police force who detected the offence. The County Council's function is to provide retraining courses. We will not enter into any correspondence or discussion with any client concerning their reason for being referred to a course.

Every effort will be made to accommodate the individual requirements of clients, however it would be helpful if you would inform us at the time of booking of any individual needs you may have.

All courses are delivered in English. Clients requiring a language translator/interpreter in order to understand and participate in the course are required to organise this for themselves at their own expense. Clients must notify WCC in advance if they are going to be accompanied by a language translator/interpreter. WCC must be informed, in advance, the name of the accompanying translator, and they must take photo ID to the course.

16 Will attending a course affect my driving insurance?

Insurance companies require you to inform them of any changes to your details. Failure to do so could invalidate any claim you wish to make. Your insurance company may view a driver who has committed a road traffic offence as a high risk policy holder and consequently increase the insurance premium.

17 Do I need to send you my driving licence?

Please DO NOT send us your driving licence. We only require you to send us your booking form and payment.

18 Why do I need to take my driving licence to the course?

You must take your driving licence(s) with you on the day of your course for identification purposes, and in the case of courses where you will be driving, to show that you are licenced to drive. If you do not have a photo card licence please ensure that you bring your paper licence and some other form of photographic identification with you such as a passport. You will not be allowed onto any of the courses without the relevant identification / licence.
