

In the Jungle

To be a jungle explorer, you will need a pair of binoculars.

You will need 2 cardboard rolls.

Pens/ stickers or paints

A length of wool

Tape and a hole puncher.

Decorate the tubes, with pens or paint, if you have any stickers you could use them too.

Punch one hole on each of the tubes

Tape around the tubes, to hold them together.

Punch a hole into the top of each tube

Thread a length of wool through the holes (not too long) and knot.

Now you are ready to explore, what else might you need?

A bag, a map?

Hello,

have you ever wondered, what it would be like, in the middle of a jungle?

What would you find there?

How would you get there?

Ready? let's go!

Jungle Facts

Did you know that...?

The elephant has the largest brain of any land mammal.

Sloths sleep around 10 hours a day.

No two tigers have the same stripes. Every tiger has their own unique pattern.

The oldest parrot lived to the age of 87

A group of monkeys is called a troop.

Looking up to the trees and down amongst the undergrowth, you may find a snake. The most common snakes you will find are pythons or boa Constrictors. These are not poisonous. There are many that are, like cobras and mambas.

This snake is friendly, his tongue is flicking to make sense of the world around him.

You will need: Strips of paper 16cm x3cm, tape, card and red paper.

First make a loop, then pull the next strip through the first loop. Tape those two ends together, this makes a chain. Now repeat this until the snake is as long as you need.

Draw an oval shape on a piece of card and cut out, this is the snake head.

Draw eyes and nostrils. Cut a strip of red paper and curl over a pencil.

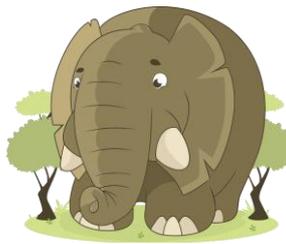

Tape the tongue under the head. Attach the head to the chain.

There, your snake is finished. Hissssssssssssss!

Gently in the bath
If you see a tall giraffe
Don't forget to laugh

Row, row, row your boat
Gently down the lake
But if you see a little snake
Don't forget to shake!

Five little monkeys

Five little monkeys swinging from a tree,

SNAP!
