

The Warwick Healey Motor Company

An appeal from the Friends of the Warwickshire County Record Office

Information and Donation Leaflet

The Warwick Healey Motor Company Archive has been purchased by Warwickshire County Record Office

The name Donald Healey is synonymous with the design of high performance sports cars. The company was founded in 1945 and based in the county town of Warwick.

The collection is extensive and features unique early research and development designs, business records, correspondence and files showing the company's involvement in sports cars for the general public as well as motor racing and land speed records. There are over 800 photographs of various Healey models showing the design and building of cars, testing and racing, and promotional images.

Warwickshire County Record Office was given the opportunity to purchase, catalogue and restore this important archive and ensure that it remains available for research here in the UK permanently.

A total project fund of £120,000 is required and £93,000 has been raised so far, thanks to support from the Heritage Lottery Fund, PRISM (Arts Council), Friends of National Libraries, King Henry VIII Trust and others.

The Friends of the Warwickshire County Record Office hopes to raise a further £27,000 by the end of 2016 through private donations so that the purchased collection can be catalogued and conserved to make it fully accessible. If sufficient money is raised parts of the collection (including film) will be digitised to help promote the collection and improve access.

This will only be possible with your help.
